

PEACE TALKED OF FOR THE EAST

Conference in Boston Is To Urge That War Cease Between Russia and Japan.

TO APPEAL TO THE EMPERORS NOW

Rulers of Russia and Japan Are Asked to Allow Friendly Neutral Nations to Act as Mediators of Their Strife.

(Special by Scripps-McLae.)

Boston, Mass., Oct. 6.—Resolutions calling upon Russia and Japan to end the present war, and upon the signatory powers of The Hague convention to press upon the governments of Russia and Japan the importance of putting an end to the strife, were adopted by the international peace congress Wednesday.

Dr. W. Evans Darby of England presented a report of the committee on questions of the day in the form of resolutions calling upon the congress to appeal for an ending of the war.

The resolutions were: "Resolved, That the congress address to the Emperors of Russia and Japan an earnest appeal, entreating them, either by direct negotiations or by having recourse to the friendly offices of some neutral power or powers, to put an end to the awful slaughter of their subjects now going on and urging the plea that, since terms of peace must sooner or later be discussed and settled, it is far better that this shall be done promptly, so as to avert the further sacrifice of valuable property and precious lives."

"That the congress forward an address to each of the signatory powers of The Hague convention, other than Russia and Japan, reminding them of article 27 of the convention, and urging them in accordance therewith to press upon the governments of Russia and Japan the importance of putting an end without further delay to a war which afflicts humanity, hinders legitimate commerce, and impedes the progress of the world in the pathway of civilization and peace."

Congress Adopts Resolutions. The resolutions were adopted after a long discussion. The first clause, which was passed with one or two dissenting votes, was changed at the end by placing the words "precious lives" before "valuable property." The second was adopted unanimously.

A third resolution was passed, with a number of dissenting voices, that the representations contained in the second resolution shall, if possible, be presented to the president of the United States and that the chairman and secretary of the organization committee are desired immediately to make the necessary arrangements.

The contents of the resolution on the Russo-Japanese war will be cabled to the emperors of each country.

In accordance with a pre-session agreement, the question of the reconciliation of France and Germany on the subject of Alsace-Lorraine was referred to the peace bureau at Bern, with the understanding that it will be given to a special committee for study. This committee to report at the next international congress.

Carnegie Resolution Causes Row.

A difference of opinion arose immediately at the opening of the session over the wording of a cablegram which had been prepared to send to Andrew Carnegie. Delegate John Martin of New York objected to the reference to Mr. Carnegie as "an earnest worker for the world's just and rational organization." He moved reconsideration, which was ordered. It was decided to substitute the words "generous and earnest worker for the world's better political order" for the words "generous and earnest worker for the world's just and rational organization." The cablegram was then sent as changed.

If the democratic managers really want to get a little excitement in their campaign, let them try a few stump speeches like the above suggestion.

SCOFIELD IS TO RUN

S. A. Cook Withdraws From the Republican Ticket--The Ex-Governor Consents To Take His Place--To Be Called National Republican Party--Fight to the Finish.

(Special to The Gazette.)

Milwaukee, Oct. 6, 3:30 p. m.—S. A. Cook, the regular republican candidate for governor, has withdrawn from the race and has handed his resignation to the republican state central committee. Ex-Governor Scofield has consented to run in his place and at a special meeting of the republican committee tomorrow Mr. Cook's resignation will be accepted and Mr. Scofield will be placed on the ticket. Mr. Cook will then issue a formal letter to the public telling why he withdrew and urging all true republicans in the state to vote for the Scofield ticket. The name of the party will probably be changed to the National Republican party owing to the recent decision of the state supreme court and it will be so designated on the official ballots. A petition will immediately be made to the supreme court asking that the Roosevelt election be placed upon both tickets in order to save the state for Roosevelt and Fairbanks. The campaign will be continued along the same lines as hitherto. The city is full of republican politicians who are urging that a bold stand be taken against La Follette.

La Follette, Wis., Oct. 6.—Now that the decision has been given the question as to how it has clarified the situation in the state arises. The court by its decision simply asserts that it has no jurisdiction in deciding the case, that the section 35 which deals with a similar case is the law on the subject. By this finding the court has disclaimed any jurisdiction in the case and has left the matter in the same status as it was before the court was asked to take the matter in hand. The national committee recognized the opera-house convention as the republican convention of the state and without a doubt the finding of the executive committee, the committee on credentials and the whole national republican convention will be of more importance than the finding of the executive committee, which was known partially and findings at the time of the state convention gave La Follette the control of the delegates elected were opposed to his renomination.

Political Affairs Throughout the State--Questions To Be Asked Regarding Standing of Candidates.

(By Staff Correspondent.)

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 6.—Now that the decision has been given the question as to how it has clarified the situation in the state arises. The court by its decision simply asserts that it has no jurisdiction in deciding the case, that the section 35 which deals with a similar case is the law on the subject. By this finding the court has disclaimed any jurisdiction in the case and has left the matter in the same status as it was before the court was asked to take the matter in hand. The national committee recognized the opera-house convention as the republican convention of the state and without a doubt the finding of the executive committee, the committee on credentials and the whole national republican convention will be of more importance than the finding of the executive committee, which was known partially and findings at the time of the state convention gave La Follette the control of the delegates elected were opposed to his renomination.

Their Decision

By the findings of the supreme court this committee is delegated with the power of deciding the question as to which ticket is legal and their decision in this matter has been filed already. Nothing new remains except for the secretary of state to place the La Follette ticket upon the republican columns. This also means all county tickets will also be placed in this same column headed by the Roosevelt and Fairbanks election. In other words, had the case not been taken to the supreme court Secretary of State House would have done exactly as he will do now. That the ticket which is now headed by Samuel Cook will also appear on the official ballot is a certainty. In their speeches last night Senator Spencer, Senator Quarles, and M. G. Jeffers cast the die and the campaign against the governor will be continued, based upon the findings of the national republican convention.

Want Information
The Kenosha republicans have formed a club and will ask each of the assembly candidates where they stand on the state issues. They want to know just where the nominees stand and how they will vote on the senatorial question and other important issues that will come up before the legislature. If the answer is not satisfactory it may be possible they will badly out on election day. Col. Hicks of Oshkosh is certain that the party councils are supreme. He does not like the idea of stealing the party's good name, and in an editorial last night says the following:

"There is no cause for casting any aspersions on the court which has rendered this decision. Whether it can make a true republican out of Gov. La Follette, however, is still a question. On the contrary it would rather seem that the governor has really contrived to steal the good name of the republican party, and with the aid of the supreme court he has managed to get away with the swag."

Many Telegrams

All day yesterday Governor La Follette was pursued by telegrams announcing the decision of the supreme court. They were brought into the governor's office and he was addressing and handing to the secretary who read them with much attention and then the governor seemed surprised and glad and continued his address. Four times this happened so that by the afternoon the governor had at last discovered he had won the suit. Governor La Follette's brother, the late ex-out of the bag at Minneapolis when he made this announcement that the aim and chief object of the governor's policy was to rebuke La Follette and that 10 per cent of his followers went off for the President. Another slight diversion at a republican gathering occurred at Mount Vernon when a Capital employe announced that Roosevelt was a dishonest man.

An investigation has since been made by a party that ascended the mountain. The explorers report that there are no indications of an eruption. The dust cloud, therefore, is supposed to have come from Mont Pelee.

BRavery OF TRAINMEN PREVENTS EXPLOSION

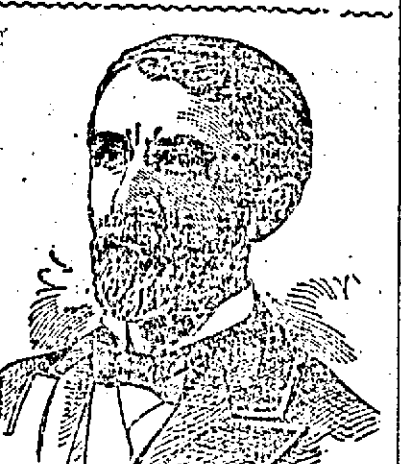

Heroic Action by Engineer and Brakeman Saves 10,000 Pounds of Dynamite From Destruction by Fire.

Connellsville, Pa., Oct. 6.—Heroic action on the part of Engineer Archie McFee and Brakeman W. C. Kellner of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad company in extinguishing a blaze in the end of a car loaded with 10,000 pounds of dynamite in the Baltimore & Ohio yards saved the whole east end of the yards, with scores of employees, shops, warehouse and thousands of cars from being converted to atoms and debris.

How the car took fire is a mystery. It had been in the yards only a short time when the end was discovered ablaze. Trainmen seeing the large sign "Danger" on the door fled in all directions. Engineer McFee and Brakeman Kellner uncoupled their engine from its train and made a flying run to the burning car. With buckets the fire was put out, but before it had eaten its way almost to the explosive. The act of the trainmen is described as being one of the bravest and nerveiest ever performed on the Baltimore & Ohio, and both were complimented by the local officials of the road.

WILL FIGHT FOR THEIR RIGHTS

SENATOR SPOONER SPEAKS THE KEYNOTE OF CAMPAIGN.

QUARLES AND JEFFRIS TALKED

No Let Up in the Activity of the Campaign From Now On—Fight to Finish.

Senator Spooner last night delivered his first campaign speech of the present year at the Davidson theatre, Milwaukee. The large theatre was filled from top to bottom with an interested audience who loudly applauded the senator when he made reference to the factional differences in the state and praised the national party issues. It was a republican speech from start to finish and one which had the wholesome ring of old-time republicanism to it. In opening Senator Spooner paid a tribute to the late Henry C. Payne. A few poignant features of his address were as follows:

Tribute to Henry C. Payne.
Henry C. Payne was a lover of Milwaukee. He dearly loved the republican party, and never, I believe, for one moment, did a selfish thought enter into that spirit of loyalty. He was connected with the national organization, and challenged not only the confidence, but the admiration of republican leaders and the respect of republican antagonists for his fairness, his manliness, his fidelity and his geniality.

On National Issues.
From the first hour Theodore Roosevelt has proven to the people of the United States and not simply to the people of the United States, to the civilized world, that he was qualified for that high office, unsafe man? Well he is a rascal. We have no larger wily than the republican candidate to have. We will maintain a duty on the products of American manufacture which will cover the difference between the labor cost in that manufacture in this country and abroad in similar manufacture.

Remember the republican party is a constructive party.

It was our mission to scatter school houses with American school teachers all over the Philippine archipelago.

The president in six days recognized the republic of Panama. Somebody else, safer perhaps, would have waited six months, and then the French warships would have been there.

Representative Government

A party committee, I have always supposed, was the most creature and servant, not the master of the party which created it.

This is the best, if not the only, representative government in the last analysis to be found in perfection under the skies.

When, in any state of the union, has been witnessed before the spectacle of the last few weeks in Wisconsin? Have you ever heard of the like of it before? Where the executive of a state—I care not if he were an angel of light, it could not be pardoned because it would be an assault upon the very structure of a government of the people—going from point to point, from place to place, telling the people "don't nominate that man for the senate," and if he is nominated, beat him; elect a democrat in his stead; this man is all right." Talk about representative government. Why, gentlemen, what does that all mean? It means that where it is intended by the constitution that there shall be two independent wills, there shall be but one.

Praise for Senator Quarles

There never was a manlier man, a man of cleaner heart, of more devoted purpose to serve the state and the country, of greater fidelity in work, of greater dignity of character, of greater popularity in the United States senate, beloved by his colleagues on both sides as a manly man, than Joseph M. Quarles.

"It would be impossible for me to put in language with what regret I find the present conditions in Wisconsin. I find everywhere bitterness. I find everywhere suspicion. I find everywhere heart burnings. I find everywhere innuendo and slander. I find everywhere the hands of old friends raised against each other. I lament factional disturbances in this state. But it is here. If I have contributed to it, God forgive me, but if I have contributed to it I have not known it."

Mr. Spooner then reviewed the history of the fight in the state and told how in 1900 he had supported La Follette and after election had been accused of knifing him. He went into the two contention fights of this year and reviewed the action of the national convention.

Says Court Decides Nothing

Leading up to the supreme court decision, he said: "The supreme court handed down a decision today. It decided what? It decided that it had not any jurisdiction to review the decision of the national convention to go into the question on its merits or to review the decision of the state central committee. In other words, it decided under the statute the state central committee was the tribunal to determine the regularity of a convention from the standpoint of the ballot, and its functions were such that bias and interest did not disqualify, even if the bias and interest were admitted to exist."

"It was proposed the other day that if the decision were the other way only the people, the republican voters, were the tribunal of last resort, and it was for them to decide, and that no attention should be paid to the decision of the court."

Calls Governor Usurper

Mr. Spooner then went on to discuss what from his standpoint was republican government. He said that the fundamental principles of government consisted of three branches—executive, legislative, and judicial—and intimated that La Follette had usurped all of these in Wisconsin. "This foundation must not be undermined or shaken," he said, "or republican government will perish from the earth."

"The president of the United States should come into the state of Wisconsin and urge the people to elect this man to congress, then nominate that man or this, and pass from state to state with all the power of patronage behind him, what would be thought of it. It would not be tolerated for one moment; it would light the torch of revolution and would destroy, unless resisted, the republican party."

Quarles Attacks Decision

Senator Quarles, addressing a meeting at Racine, also attacked the decision and assailed Gov. La Follette. He called the governor un-American and un-republican and said he was ambitious to become a political pope. Senator Quarles held that the opinion of Chief Justice Cassoday was the one desired most by republicans.

The part of section 35 of the statutes he held was obscure and complicated, but said that a new power has been given a dead tribunal by the court in allowing the state committee of 1902 to certify to the regularity of the ticket.

Bow to But Question Ruling

"We bow to the decision of the court," said Mr. Quarles, "because we are republicans. We will not say we ignore the decision, but we can condemn the stupidity of the legislature for enacting such a law. The effect of it gives Gov. La Follette and his ticket one important advantage because of being declared the regular ticket."

"But aside from that the decision has no effect, and with the voter weighs not one atom. The decision cuts no ice and the case stands where it did before. The republican national committee, the highest authority in the party, has decided which is the regular ticket, and that ticket is to be supported by Wisconsin's true Americans and republicans."

Only One Judge Dissents

The decision which has so upset the political situation in the state was adopted by a vote of 3 to 1 in the supreme court. Justices Marshall, Dodge, and Winslow concurred in the opinion, and Chief Justice Cassoday dissented.

Review of the Decision

The court decision reviews the controversy between the faction whose ticket is headed by Gov. La Follette and known as the "half-breeds" and the faction whose ticket is headed by S. A. Cook and known as the "stalwarts." It points out the facts that each faction held a convention. Each convention made nominations.

Each of the conventions claimed to be the regular convention of the republican party.

Therefore the controversy comes exactly within the provisions of a special Wisconsin law passed to meet such an emergency. The law is section 35, Wisconsin statute 8, and the second clause, which is the pertinent one, says:

"When two or more conventions or caucuses shall be held and the factions thereof are certified, each claiming to be the regular convention of the party, preference in designation shall be given to the nominations of one certified by the committee which had been officially certified to be authorized to represent the party."

Rights Vested in Committees

The court points out that the legislature had a right to designate a party tribunal to decide which faction in a party controversy should be empowered to use the party name on the official ballot, and the court points out further that the party tribunal answering to the call of this legal requirement is the republican state central committee, elected at the convention of 1902 and duly certified to the secretary of state. "In such a tribunal," the court adds, "though required to act judicially, being an administration rather than a judicial body, the bias or interest of its members does not disqualify them nor affect its jurisdiction."

The court then points out that this legal tribunal, the state committee, had already and properly assumed jurisdiction, and had decided that the nominations headed by Robert M. La Follette for governor were entitled to preference in respect to the use upon the official ballot of the name "republican ticket."

Therefore the court holds that it is the duty of the secretary of state to act accordingly and certify both sets of nominations to the various county clerks, but giving to the La Follette ticket the name "republican." The other ticket, the court declares, to satisfy the statutes, must be given a designation sufficiently different from that accorded to the rightful claimant of the name "republican" to enable such set of irregular from the regular nominations.

National Convention Ignored

Regarding the action of the republican national convention, which gave preference to "stalwart" delegates, the court says it has no bearing on this controversy, in these words:

"The decision of the republican national convention as to which of the two sets of delegates from this state claiming the right to represent the republican party thereof in such convention was entitled to recognition is not of any significance, as a rule to the secretary of state or to the committee authorized to determine the factional dispute under said section 35, since exclusive jurisdiction thereof, as regards the official ballot law, was conferred by the legislature upon the latter as a special tribunal, as before indicated."

The court is careful to point out that its decision is purely a legal one and not intended to go into the merits of the case. On this point it says:

"The foregoing conclusion follows logically and necessarily from the legal aspects of the case before stated. What the real right of the matter in dispute might be found to be, were this court permitted to disregard the decision of the special tribunal, and investigate and determine the merits of the controversy from that standpoint, it has no right to decide or suggest. Only constituted authority having spoken within its jurisdiction, it must be conclusively presumed to have spoken rightly."

Jeffris Talk

"If you see that the court said that the La Follette ticket was the real republican ticket you can brand it as a lie." Thus spoke Mr. G. Jeffris in Waukesha last night. His speech was free from personal abuse of the governor and he kept to the issues of the campaign. He was greeted there with a band, and escorted to the Casino with a procession of torch bearers. The audience of nearly 2,000 at the Casino listened with rapt attention to all his speech. Mr. Jeffris said in part:

"I do not come here to abuse the governor, nor to call him names, but I shall take up his record, and if his record constitutes abuse, then I shall be abusive. I understand that it had been given out in this city that there would be no meeting tonight because of the decision of the supreme court, but I am not that kind of a republican at stake, and any man who feels his own liberty will speak out."

"But I will take up the decision in a moment. In the first place I will tell you what this convention of the La Follette men was. The governor had enough 'stalwarts' thrown out so that he could control the convention. Mr. Chenoweth telegraphed to a friend of mine here and told him to contest the county delegation, but he was an honest man, and would not. The governor says we contested delegations in various counties with no pretense of right, showing that we were determined at any cost to control the convention, yet he had six contests of counties and we only one, that of St. Croix."

"But there were 500 delegates that would not stand this and they constituted the open-house convention. We argued it for six hours before that committee of fifty men, and they decided that the 'stalwart' convention was the only republican convention. Then they appointed a credential committee and they in turn appointed a subcommittee of three who reported that after an all night session that the 'stalwart' was the only republican convention. Yet they came back to Wisconsin and say that that convention was debauched."

Questions La Follette's Republicanism

"Mr. La Follette, the governor's brother, says that 45 per cent of La Follette's republicans would vote for Roosevelt. This, I tell you who are republicans. Is he a republican when 45 per cent of his voters will not vote the republican ticket?"

"Now it was thought that the matter could be tried out before the supreme court. The old committee, according to the directions in section 35 of the statutes, had said that the gymnasium convention was the regular one, and the court has decided that it can not undo the statute in the matter. If you see that the court says that the La Follette ticket is the regular ticket you can brand it as a lie. They said they could not decide the matter."

The governor has told a pathetic story of the railroad engineer who dared not vote for him. Such a story is an insult to the bravest body of men in the country today. I am not working for the railroads. I never got a penny out of the railroads. I did not get by the aid of the sheriff on an execution. If there is one independent class of workmen in this state it is the railroad employees. The Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers are the strongest union in the country. If any railroad were to tell how an engineer should vote its lines would be tied up. The railroad men are against La Follette because they know that he is a demagogue, and that his peculiar vagaries would cripple the railroads."

Tells of Waste of State Money

"The man is thoroughly insincere. He has spent $600,000 more than ever before to run the state this year. It cost you, the taxpayers, more than $1,000 a day to campaign against Babcock. We're paying over $100,000 a year for the game wardens. You and I know that those game wardens in Milwaukee are following just two kinds of game—politics and poker."

The funds of the state are nearly gone, the state is on the verge of bankruptcy, and he has tried to hide it till after election by juggling the funds."

Mr. Jeffris spoke also on the various departments of the state where the rottenness of the administration had shown through. He spoke at length of the game wardens, of the insurance inspection scandal, of the treasurer's default. He mentioned the governor's former understanding with the railroads, and the money that is alleged to have been paid the governor by the railroads for his influence, and added:

"If he has a chance to examine railroad rates he won't have to have any insurance commissioners. If he has the say as to rates it will not be to them, but come to him if you want a rate."

ANOTHER CLUB IN ORFORDVILLE IS

Organized by La Follette Roosevelt Followers—Membership List Large.

There was a Roosevelt and La Follette club organized at Orfordville last Saturday evening composed of voters of Orfordville and vicinity. Three hundred and fifty voters have already joined the club and it is expected the number will exceed five hundred before the close of the campaign. The following officers were elected: president, J. P. Smiley; vice president, N. Benson; secretary, E. P. Smiley; treasurer, E. N. Haugen. The following resolutions were unanimously adopted: Resolved, that the members of the Roosevelt and La Follette Club, of Orfordville, Wis., pledge themselves to support President Roosevelt, and Gov. WRESTLER PARR HERE FOR MATCH

Meets Rhinehold Schott at the Myers Opera House Tomorrow Evening.

Lovers of the wrestling game are promised a good treat tomorrow night when James Parr, the champion wrestler of England meets Rhinehold Schott of Watertown at the Myers Grand Opera House. Parr is a well-known English wrestler coming from Wigan, Lancashire, the home of several renowned followers of the wrestling game. He has been in this country for the past four years and has defeated all the men he has thus far met, with the exception of Jenkins, who received a decision over him. Parr married an American girl in Buffalo, and this spring purchased a hotel and livery at Everittville, New York with his winnings of the past two seasons. On Tuesday night last he defeated Emil Klank at Rockford, two falls out of three in fast time. In catch as catch can Parr was far the superior. Mr. Parr has an exhibition in Kimball's furniture store window the gold and silver belt he won in the wrestling tournament in London in 1902, when he defeated sixteen of the best wrestlers in the United Kingdom. Parr weighs about 173 pounds but will meet any man in the world weighing a hundred and eighty-five pounds. He claims the light heavy-weight championship of the world. He is short and looks as strong as an ox. He has a typical wrestler's head and neck and shoulders and should make a pretty exhibition. He is to wrestle farmer Burn a return match in Rockford next week. He is making his way west to the Pacific coast, meeting all comers on his trip.

HOW CROPS LOOK ALL OVER STATE

LAST WEEKLY CROP LETTER PUBLISHED TODAY.

CROPS ARE NOT ALL GATHERED

Fall Has Come—Last Review of the Situation in Wisconsin.

The weather during the past week was mainly favorable for maturing remaining crops, and no frost occurred until Sunday night, when light to killing frosts were reported along the eastern border of the state. Rains were quite general over the state during the early part of the week, which materially benefited fall seeding and pastures and placed the soil in excellent condition for fall plowing.

Corn: Although several frosts, all more or less damaging to corn, occurred during the past month, there is a considerable portion of the crop, especially on high land in the southern and central counties, that has escaped, and is now maturing. The bulk of the crop has, however, been cut green, and will produce only soft corn. In the northern portion of the state the corn is practically no sound corn, while in the southern and central counties the proportion of sound corn is estimated at about one-third of the crop.

Potatoes: Digging is in progress and the yield is generally very satisfactory. In some sections, there is some complaint of rotting, but as a whole the crop is considered good, both in quality and yield.

Buckwheat: A light crop, having been badly damaged by the frosts.

Winter Wheat and Rye: have attained a good stand, and as the soil is well supplied with moisture the outlook is encouraging.

Pastures: are still in good condition.

Southern Section.

Alderley, Dodge county: Farmers busy cutting corn and filling silos; very little corn ripe yet; late potatoes commencing to rot.—John Steele.

Beloit, Rock county: Corn for the most part is ripe; no frost yet of any consequence; fall sown grain and grass in fine shape.—L. S. Moseley.

Brooklyn, Green county: All late corn improved and ready; fall grains looking fine; pastures good; late potatoes ready to cut and crop good.—E. O. Waelelock.

Darlington, Lafayette county: Corn still green on high land and maturing slowly; second crop clover and pastures in excellent condition.—Warren Gray.

Baraboo, Sauk county: Corn cutting well under way and plowing is of very poor quality; much of it is very poor quality; plowing is being pushed; pastures are doing well.—Geo. B. McGilvray.

Richfield, Richland county: Weather fine for maturing corn that escaped the frost; corn on low land all killed; pastures badly damaged.—J. W. Grimm.

...Forty Years Ago...

Janesville Daily Gazette, Thursday, October 6, 1864.—Great Robbery.—At too late an hour for publication in our daily yesterday we received the following letter from Mr. Booth giving us an account of the great robbery at Monroe Tuesday night. The amount taken from the bank was $33,000 in greenbacks, but the rascals lost $11,000 of their booty before they got away. It is one of the most daring robberies ever perpetrated in this part of the country.
No clue has yet been obtained of the robbers.

Monroe, Oct. 1864.

Editors
Gazette: Gentles—The
quiet of this beautiful village is broken and all is excitement. At twenty minutes to 1 o'clock this morning the safe of the Bank of Monroe was blown open and a little over $30,000 in currency stolen. About $80,000 in U. S. bonds was in the safe but was not reached. Almost every light of glass in the front was blown out, some of it was blown across the street. The interior of the bank is almost a wreck. A large iron door of the safe two feet by three was blown through a partition wall across the room. The bricks were broken to pieces. Such a demolished bank never saw. It looks a great deal worse than if it had been mobbed.

The citizens are starting in every direction to see if they can find some track of the daring burglars.

In haste,
WM. BOOTH.

FOOTBALL TALK
AND PROSPECTS

What is Being Done by the University Players This Fall—
Who Are to Play.

Madison, Wis.—Football training at the University of Wisconsin thus far this week has been characterized by gratifying progress, to the coaches in the matter of aggressive team work, although two physical misfortunes have been sustained.

Captain Bush was painfully injured in the side and will have to remain out of the practice for several days.
The coaches say he must completely recover before entering the play again, so that he will not be liable to repeated injuries. While Bush is on the hospital list Kuehmstedt will do the kicking. Clark will act as field captain. Bertke, the star guard, injured his ankle in a scrimmage and will also rest a bit, although not hurt
as badly as Captain Bush.

Coach Curtis said he hoped all the hard luck would come early in the season rather than at critical times just before the big games. Wisconsin may have an Indian player this fall in St. Germaine, a Haskell Indian player of some reputation and 100 pounds in weight. He will be tried on the second eleven at first at one of the guard positions. Careful economy is to be practiced at Madison because the athletic association of the university has already a debt of nearly $20,000 and difficulty is had in floating notes. Only 14 players have thus far been taken to the training table, being Captain Bush and Findley, ends; Donovan and Kinney, tackles; Bertke, Stromquist, Franzke and Johnson, guards; Vanderboom, Grogan and Wraetz, half-backs; Clark, fullback, Remp, center, and Kuehmstedt, quarterback.

Opportunity.

Master of human destinies am I,
Fame, love, fortune on my footsteps wait,
Cities and fields I walk; I penetrate Deserts and seas remote, and passing by Hovel, and mart, and palace, soon or late
I knock unbidden once at every gate;
If sleeping, WAKE—if feasting, RISE before
I turn away. It is the hour of fate,
And they who follow me reach every state
Mortals desire, and conquer every foe
Save death; but those who doubt or hesitate,
Condemned to failure, penury and woe,
Seek me in vain, and uselessly implore,
I answer not, and I return no more.

Fourth. This proves our faith in NU-TRI-OLA. To show that you are actually in good faith and to protect us against frauds, we ask you to make a small deposit with your local druggist. He will hold your money for 25 days, then if you want it back you have only to tell him you have not been benefited and he will give it to you.

and Chemical Analysis will be given you Absolutely Free.

Sixth. All this is offered you "without money and without price" unless you YOURSELF say we have benefited you.

VERDICT OF THE PARTY

From the report of the Committee on Credentials to the REPUBLICAN NATIONAL CONVENTION, which was unanimously adopted by that convention, June 23, 1904.

Your committee report it to be their final judgment that the convention which elected John C. Spooner, J. V. Quarles, J. W. Babcock and Emil Baensch as delegates at large, and their alternates at large, to this convention from the state of Wisconsin WAS THE REGULAR CONVENTION OF THE REPUBLICAN PARTY IN WISCONSIN, and that the delegates elected by it are the regular elected delegates at large from the state of Wisconsin to the republican convention, and, as such, are entitled to seats in this convention.

THE COURT DECISION.

The supreme court decision, so long delayed, was handed down yesterday and is a victory for the governor to this extent. The legal point was contained in the claim that section 35, of the revised statutes recognized the old state central committee as the authority on which convention was regular.

This committee of course was a La Follette committee and had already decided in his favor. The case stands exactly where it did before, except that the decision carries with it instructions to place both tickets on the ballot, and this of course means that both factions will be able to vote a straight ticket and thus insure the success of the national ticket.

So far as the factional fight is concerned the decision will have but little influence. The national party endorsed the conservative element last June and today recognizes that element as the republican party of the state. The supreme court decides a legal question which recognizes a partisan state central committee as supreme.

Mr. Cook took the position a month ago, that if he did not receive recognition by the supreme court that he would retire from the contest and he will probably do so. This does not necessarily mean that the ticket, of which he was the head, will be withdrawn as the state central committee of the conservative element have authority to fill vacancies. This will doubtless be done and the campaign vigorously pushed until election day.

It would be rank hypocrisy for the men who have been opposing the governor to endorse him now simply because the supreme court on a technicality decided that he was legally nominated. This decision in no way effects the methods used to secure a majority of the delegates in his convention and it certainly does not make a wrong, right.

The conditions are the most peculiar of any with which the state was ever confronted. Senator Spooner, the leader of the senate, and, next to the president, as well known and highly regarded as any man in the nation, is the leader of the republican party in the state. His leadership is endorsed by the national party and recognized by the national administration.

Industrial interests of the state. More than this, they represent a majority of the party, and the only reason why they did not control the gymnasium convention was because they were ruled out by a committee created for that purpose.

Arranged against Senator Spooner and this conservative element is the governor and his enthusiastic followers and this represents a mixed constituency. The convention that nominated him was composed of delegates elected by the liberal support of fair-minded democrats.

The governor is popular with the thinking masses because this class of people like to be told that they are abused and that they are under the heel of corporate wealth.

This is the governor's constituency and he has handled it with consummate skill. That he is a great organizer as well as a great campaigner is conceded by men who don't like him. He has the machinery of the party behind him and he doesn't hesitate to use it for all it is worth.

THE GOLD PRODUCTION.

The official estimates of gold production in the United States and in the world in 1903 as made by the director of the mint, says the Wall Street Journal, do not differ materially from the preceding unofficial estimates. The director of the mint's figures are:

	1903.	1902.
United States	$73,591,700	$80,000,000
The world	$325,627,200	$295,889,000

Thus while there was a falling off in the United States' production of about $6,400,000, there has been a gain in the world's production of nearly $30,000,000, due chiefly to the gain of $28,974,400 in Africa and $7,631,300 in Australia. The decline in the United States was caused by the labor troubles in Colorado.

Two great facts, full of the largest import to the markets of the world, should be noted.

(1) The total production of gold in 1903 was the heaviest on record.
(2) The production in 1904 is almost certain to greatly exceed that of last year.

The reasons for this prediction are these: The Transvaal production has increased this year and with the labor problem there in the process of solution, there should be a steady gain from now on. Then the labor strikes in Colorado have ended, and the increased use of the cyanide process is making many low grade ores profitable.

The London Economist recently said that while the gold production of 1904 might reach $350,000,000, there would be a decline in two or three years, inasmuch as there are no new fields in sight to be exploited. Its estimate for 1904 is moderate and its prediction as to the future is open to serious question. There seems to be every reason for believing that for at least the next ten years the gold production will continue on a large scale, and that even then the area of possible exploitation will by no means have been explored, much less fully developed. It does not seem reasonable that Africa, Asia and South America have been exhausted of their gold deposits, and there are doubtless new mines to be discovered in our own country. Cripple Creek is already turning out more than twice as much gold as Alaska.

In the past eight years $2,170,411,000 of gold has been mined, of which about $1,400,000,000 has been added to the stocks of money. The same rate of production in the next ten years will put the stocks of gold as money in the world at nearly $7,000,000,000.

HENRY C. PAYNE.

In the death of Henry C. Payne the nation has lost one of her brightest and most able officials, and the state one of her most intelligent and loyal citizens. Henry C. Payne was a modest unassuming man, noted, not for what he said, but for what he did.

A man of rare good judgment and keen perceptions he was ever regarded as a wise counselor and safe advisor. He was a large hearted man inspired by generous impulses, and his friendship was prized by all who came in close contact with him.

The city, which had long been his home, was the beneficiary of his public spirit and he had long been recognized as a progressive and enterprising citizen.

Mr. Payne was a republican of the old school. His loyalty and level-headed common sense, marked him for a leader and he enjoyed a national as well as a state reputation. He was a tireless but quiet worker and his forecast of political events was reliable, showing that he studied conditions intelligently and grasped the situation.

That such a man should have enemies is not at all surprising. He was the kind of a foe in politics that demanded recognition and was not easily vanquished. His name will live in the history of the party as one of its most illustrious leaders and he will be missed as a counselor and leader.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT SAYS:
Work, the capacity for work, is absolutely necessary; and no man's life is full, no man can be said to live in the true sense of the word, if he does not work.

All really great work is rough in the doing, though it seems smooth enough to those who look back upon it, or to contemporaries who overlook it from afar.

The man who does work worth doing is the man who does it because he cannot refrain from doing it, the man who feels it borne in on him to try that particular job and see if he cannot do it well.

I do not know whether I most pity or despise the foolish and selfish man or woman who does not understand that the only things really worth having in life are those the acquirement of which normally means cost and effort.

I have heard the millionaire say, "I have had to work all my life to make money, let my boy spend it." It would be better for the boy never to have been born than to be brought up on that principle.

The supreme court takes the ground that it is not responsible for section 35, laws of 1898, and that if a mistake was made that the legislature is at fault. The supreme court interprets law, the legislature creates the statutes.

La Follette stock went up several points when the court decision was made public yesterday democracy also took a day off to celebrate. It may be well to wait until November for the final jubilee.

MUSINGS WITHOUT METHOD.

True greatness ever mates with simplicity.
Money makes the world go wrong, mostly.

A temperate life is slow, but it's pretty sure.

Some men's highest idea of good is of itself evil.

The man always in a hurry seldom gets anywhere.

The fellow who intends to succeed works without a time-table.

When Opportunity knocks at your door, Responsibility stands behind her.

Poets say that life is a flower. Why don't they add that love is the honey in it?

The "inspired" man is merely the one wholly swayed by his good impulses.

It is a man's consciousness of a weakness, not the weakness itself, which makes it conspicuous.

A "hang-dog" look is not always born of conscious guilt; sometimes it is the index of a life of abuse.

Not one man in ten thousand leaves his impress upon his fellows, which probably is fortunate for his fellows.

Nothing becomes a fact through the world's belief in its existence. Once upon a time men thought that the sun moved.

JUST THOUGHTS.

The consumer is the individual who is out the most on the strike.

Some men want the earth, but the down-town merchant is usually satisfied if allowed to appropriate the sidewalk.

"To be happy," advises a magazine writer, "fill yourself with sunshine." You will get the same effect by letting someone else all you with hot air.

The first step toward the elevation of the stage should be the incarceration of the big handed man who wants eight or ten encores of every song.

Some people insist that while it is lame to have a 10 cent cigar named for you it is more noteworthy when a 5 cent cigar has your picture on the box.

A man who removes his hat in the elevator of an office building always does it with an expression which indicates that he believes every woman in the elevator will write a note to the papers about his gallantry.

While we are sorry to learn that the attendance at St. Louis is not as large as was expected, still there is the happy thought that there will not be so many people who will want to talk all winter about their visit to the fair.

SNAPSHOTS.

Women are so punctual! I know of a Monday club that used to meet every Wednesday.

I knew a young fellow once who got a corkerew leg trying to follow in the footsteps of his father.

SPLINTERS.

If you cannot please yourself you will never be able to please anyone else.

It is a pity that when people reach the age of discretion they do not stay there.

So many people waste time! Do you do it? Do you talk and talk about nothing?

A man who talks so loudly about himself is often like thunder. Big noise, no damage.

The girls who are chasing a man should see the warning in the face of a woman who has caught one.

No matter how silly a woman may be, she can always find a man who will let her make a fool of him.

How we all dislike the child that has its own way, and is impatient! All of us need a great deal of training.

The man who is always hoping for the best may never reach it, but he has a happy time whistling on the way.

We are not always on the bright side of life, but we really need the darkness sometimes—for resting purposes.

RACING LORE.

Circumstances alter cases, but he who is "down to cases" is in pretty poor circumstances.

Just because a horse was not ridden to your complete satisfaction, it isn't necessary to hold an indignation meeting on the grand stand steps.

If you've only a modest wager to place, and you fear that the bookie will give you a hostile look, wave a flag of truce at him, and maybe he'll declare an armistice.

WIT AND WISDOM.

The wine that is fed is more to our taste than the wine that is read.

Always get all that you can out of others. It keeps them from being selfish.

Always criticize people. It yanks the conceit out of them with such a jerkiness.

Of course a woman has more temper than a man. Doesn't she have to worry with the man? Sure.

JAPANESE OUTPOSTS RETREAT

Word From Mukden is to the Effect That the Advance Guard of the Mikado's Army Has Been Driven Back.

London, Oct. 6.—A dispatch to a news agency here, dated Tokio, Oct. 5, says: "It is reported that the Russian squadron has made a sortie from Port Arthur today, and that a great naval battle occurred." No details are given.

London, Oct. 6.—In the face of an amazing famine of both press and official dispatches from the front, military critics are forced again to the conclusion that events of momentous significance are impending in the vicinity of Mukden. The war columns in the morning papers are full of conjectures and rumors woven out of the ominous silence that prevails both in St. Petersburg and Tokio. Members of the general staff admit that they are without official news of the events of the past twenty-four hours. A press-dispatch from Mukden announces that the Japanese advance line of outposts has been driven back and that the Russian troops are looking forward confidently to being led against the enemy and given an opportunity to exact revenge for the defeat at Liao-Yang.

Bar Oyama's Advance.
In the same dispatch it is stated that 60,000 Russian troops bar Oyama's advance, and that it was the discovery of this imposing force on his immediate front that halted a combined movement of the Japanese armies planned for Sept. 27.

In Tokio it is asserted that the pass will be the scene of the next decisive battle. Press dispatches from Tokio yesterday asserted that the bulk of the Russian army was concentrated at the pass, and that only a strong garrison remained in front of Mukden for the purpose of blocking Oyama's advance until Kourapatkin had completed the elaborate fortification of the ground to the north of the city that he has chosen for battle.

Russian Army Stronger.
Kourapatkin's army has been strengthened in the past two weeks by large reinforcements of artillery and cavalry. Military experts here are of the opinion that the delay in Oyama's advance has given the Russian commander time to strengthen and dispose of his army in a manner that places him in an infinitely stronger position than at Liao-Yang.

MAN KILLED BY A TRAIN TODAY

G. W. HEAD, A STONE MASON,
DIED INSTANTLY.

WANDERED ONTO THE TRACKS

The Nine Twenty Train on Evansville
[Cut Off Struck Him, Near Knipp's Brewery.

G. M. Head of Chicago was struck by the 9:20 North-Western train this morning near Knipp's brewery and instantly killed. His remains were taken to the Kimball morgue and his wife in Chicago notified of the accident by telegraph. Mr. Head came here about a month ago to work on the beet-sugar plant where he was employed as a stone mason. He has worked every day while here and formed many friendships among the workmen at the plant. Last evening he sent forty dollars to his wife who resides at 126 Sangamon street, Chicago, as was learned from the receipt found in one of his pockets, and had left some fifteen dollars from the last pay envelope he received. What became of this money is a mystery, for but forty-five cents was found in his clothes when picked up this morning and he had hardly had time to spend the rest.

Had Been Drinking
He left his boarding place on North Main street this morning in time to catch the car to the beet factory. Instead of going directly to South Main street he stopped in a North Main street saloon and purchased a few drinks and a half-pint of whiskey. He wandered from there onto the tracks in the north section of the city and was walking on the Evansville cut-off toward town when caught by the train. The place of the accident is but six hundred feet from the crossing where all trains have to stop and when he was struck the train was not going at full speed.

Was Warned
Several loud blasts were blown on the whistle of the locomotive to warn Mr. Head but either he failed to hear them or was unable to comprehend the meaning and never moved from the center of the track. The body was not run over but the engine so struck it that the neck was broken, the skull fractured in two places and both right leg and right arm were broken in several places. From the passenger depot where the body was taken by the train he was taken to Kimball's morgue.

Deadly Disfigured
The flesh of the face above the nose was broken open and the whole head was scratched by the chinders into which it was hurled. From the nature of the fractures it is known that his death was immediate and never for an instant did the man realize his fate.

Middle Aged
Mr. Head was a man of about sixty years of age with sandy hair and mustache and weighed about a hundred and ninety pounds. He was well liked by all who worked with him and from his conversation with the men is thought to have traveled a great deal. He was married and was hired in Chicago to come here and work. Besides the letter from his wife and the receipt for the money, under which were found in his clothes—one a traveling card and the other a membership card in the local union, on which the initials varied.

The representative, Mr. Hamilton, instructed the election officers on the use of these machines at several "classes" held on two days of this week and it is expected that they will be needed. EDDIE FAY BOBS UP SERENELY

FOUND BY CHICAGO POLICE,
BUT ESCAPES.

ROBBER TOO CLEVER BY FAR

Eludes the Drag Net Set for Him, and
Is Hiding, in Chicago
Today.

Since the night that Eddie Fay, alleged bank robber and post-office wrecker, took French leave of Sheriff Appleby's hospitality, he has dropped from sight entirely. It was some time during the night of August 25th that Mr. Fay aided by outside assistants departed from Janesville for more pleasant climes and since then police of two continents and all the large cities have watched in vain for trace of him. However, it remained for the Chicago police officers to meet this wily stranger again last night and allow him to escape with as much ease as he did when he left without goodbye here.

A Gun Fight
According to dispatches received late this afternoon Fay eluded the Chicago police after a desperate gun fight. The police had long been watching for Fay and had a drag-net out around West Chicago where traces of his whereabouts had been located. They closed in during the night and Fay made his escape after a pistol battle which lasted for several blocks. Fay is known to be hiding in Chicago, and every policeman on the Chicago force has been notified to be on the watch for him. He is a desperate man and well armed.

In Chicago All the Time
It is now thought that Fay has been concealed in Chicago all the time since he left the Rock county jail. He is charged with having robbed the Superior post-office a year ago, and was being held in jail here at the time of his escape, waiting trial. He is also thought to have been implicated in the robbery of the Chicago post-office.

ORCHESTRA TO BE BETTER THAN EVER

Many Former and Some Good New Musicians Are Practicing for High School Orchestra.

This year there is every prospect of a better high school orchestra than they have ever had before. A large number of last year's players are back and nearly all the new additions are expert players. Hitherto the members have been from the upper classes mostly and it did not pay to spend too much time on drilling on the minute details, but this year nearly the majority of the players are of the lower classes. More attention to this part will be paid. They have already had one practice and good hard drilling and practicing will commence next month. Those who compose the orchestra are: Violin players—Robert Jensen, William Spohn, William Pouchen, Nellie Decker, Julia Enright, Ethel; Crowley, Ronald Alris, Beasle Slater, Jerome Davis, Nellie Edgington, Louise McGowan, Cecil Burgess and Grant Hyde; mandolin—Wallace Mills and Eleanor Enright; cornet—Lynn Corey; Clarinet—Ardell Witherell, and piano, Mrs. Hyde.

BELOIT ACADEMY FOR SATURDAY

LINE CITY FOOTBALL WARRIORS TO PLAY HERE.

A GREAT GAME IS EXPECTED

Field Will Be Enclosed with Wire
Fencing To Keep Spectators
Out of the Game.

The Janesville high school football team will meet Beloit Academy on the Athletic Field gridiron, Saturday afternoon next. The crowd on the field of spectators last week made possible the only touchdown for Janesville's opponents, the White-water Normal, and in order to prevent a recurrence of such a disastrous incident, wove wire fencing attached to good strong posts is being put up around the entire area. Janesville has the material for a champion team this year. The players have already shown that they can play a plucky, fighty game, full of snap and ginger. The only danger is apathy in practice and the neglect of enough good material to get out so that there may be good stiff scrimmages on week days. The team's offensive work is far from strong, but the defense may already be said to be good. James Godden is one of the new and promising candidates. He appeared on the field in his everyday clothes last night and displayed accuracy and good football sense in his trial work. For the present he will be played at guard but later he may be put in as full-back or tackle. Football practice is held at Athletic field every afternoon. Janesville men who have good husky boys who can play the game should not compel them to work after school during the football season. They are needed on the field if Janesville is to build up a great team this year. There will be plenty of contests with rival high schools later on. Victories easily won from weak teams at the beginning of the season might be conducive to overconfidence and the management has therefore scheduled some good hard games at the beginning. There was a big crowd of spectators last Saturday which was gratifying, showing as it did that an increasing interest is being taken in the greatest of all games.

CHARLES BORCHERT FOILED BURGLARS

Who Tried to Rob the Bank at Monticello—Beaten and Fired Upon.

More exciting details concerning the attempted bank robbery at Monticello are given in the morning dispatches. It would appear from the Monroe version of the affair that seven robbers were foiled in their attempt to get away with $9,000 in currency by Charles Borchert, living four blocks away, who heard the explosion of the nitro-glycerine and started for the bank, stopping at the home of Cashier L. J. Breylinger on the way. Near the bank he is said to have encountered the seven robbers. He was struck on the head with the butt of a revolver, knocked down and beaten. When he started to run, he was fired upon, and two bullets were found lodged in the door jamb of his house. The interruption caused the thieves to depart without any booty. Breylinger stopped to telephone for help, and the robbers escaped. It is thought they used a hand car to get away and went toward the Mississippi river.

BOY SACRIFICES LIFE TO RESCUE LIVE STOCK

Drives Cattle From Burning Barn,
Then Sinks on Floor When Overcome by the Smoke.

Battle Creek, Mich., Oct. 6.—To save the lives of his father's cattle, Ralph Blowers, a farmer's boy, gave up his own life during the storm Tuesday night.

Lightning struck the barn on the Blowers farm. Flames rose from the structure and rapidly enveloped it. The boy heard the bellowing of the cattle and could not bear to see the faithful animals burn before his eyes. He told his parents and brother that he was going to try to save the cattle. They begged him not to attempt it, saying he would surely be injured or burned to death. The boy was determined, however, and rushed into the midst of the heavy down pour and the sharp flashes of lightning to the blazing barn.

By the time he had reached the structure flames were bursting from all sides. Nevertheless he unlocked the door, rushed into the stalls, released the cattle, and drove them out. At the frightened cattle out proved low work. Despite the smoke and flames that were rapidly overcoming him, young Blowers stuck to his post until he had driven the last animal from the barn. He then sank unconscious to the floor of the barn.

The parents and brothers of the boy anxiously awaited his return. While he was driving the cattle from the blazing structure they several times called to him to come out. By the time he had fallen exhausted from the smoke the flames had so enveloped the structure that they knew they would be burned to death if they attempted to rescue him. They stood near the structure powerless to save the youth who they knew was burned to death within. When the flames had subsided and the ruins had cooled off the charred remains of the boy were found.

The little boy, however, was in a much more serious condition than the others and the efforts of the physicians to save his life proven unavailing. The family formerly lived here, Mr. Lynch being a mortician on the local street car line.

Middle West Teams

Football Practice at Universities of Chicago, Illinois and Michigan Developing Able Players -- Borg Is a Find For Stagg's Eleven.

The University of Chicago football team is now hard at work under the direction of Head Coach Alonzo A. Stagg.

The men who have reported up to date are Captain Spiek, Wightman, Bezdek, Kennedy, Barry, Gale, Hitecock, Eckersall and "Bubbles" Hill of the old men, while Barker, Fish and Walker of Hyde Park school, Chicago; De Tray, Hume, Short, Badenoch, Hogenson, Varnell, Erwin, Larson, Noll, Henry, Dutton of Boise City, Ida., and Carman of Simpson college, Ia., form most of the new contingent.

Of the sixteen men who are making their first trial for the Chicago eleven fourteen are freshmen just entering the university, and two, Yates and Short, played on the freshman team last year. Eleven of the newcomers forth a likely looking bunch of football players for the University of Michigan eleven. Both Coach Yost and Manager Baird are well pleased with the prospects for another championship team.

Captain Heston, Norcross, Toulman, and Hammond have arrived at Ann Arbor, as also has Curtis, the big tackle. He has been on a fishing trip and says that he feels fine and weighs 240 pounds.

Walter Steffens, the crack quarterback of the North Division team, has cast his lot with the Wolverines.

James of last year's team will not return to college, and as Yost thinks Norcross would be better at end or half, Steffens will have an excellent chance for quarterback.

Of the new men so far James De Pere, first base on the baseball team, looks best to train, with Captain Heston at half. Workman, who played end on Englewood high school, has been given a call and should make a strong fight for end.

Bruehler, a man from Alton college, weighing over 200 pounds, is on hand, and Yost says he thinks he can use him, probably at either center or guard.

The squad is being drilled in catching punts and running through signals, but there will be few scrimmages until the men have worked off the rough edges.

Manager Huff, Student Manager Horst and Captain Fairweather of the University of Illinois eleven are hopeful regarding the prospects for the team, but they are one in stating that as far as they are aware the high school stars obtained by Illinois are few and of only medium ability.

Egan's Great Career

New Golf Champion Has Won a Sensational Number of Victories Since 1901.

H. Chandler Egan of Chicago, who recently won the amateur golf championship of America at Baltusrol, near Morristown, N. J., has occupied a stellar position in the golfing world for four years.

Egan is a cousin of Walter Egan of Chicago, also a famous golfer. Both are members of the Exmoor Golf club at Highland Park, Ill.

The new champion's record since he began playing golf in 1901 has been a remarkably successful one.

A detailed list of his victories and defeats—the latter are sensationally few—is as follows:

In 1901 Egan played his first school-boy match at Exmoor and won it. Later played eight matches and won six of them. In June won preparatory school championship from Walter Egan and took president's cup at Exmoor. Entered Harvard university in the fall and joined the college golf team.

In 1902 Egan played forty-three matches, winning thirty-seven, losing four and halving two. Among those he defeated were A. C. Lockwood, Percy Lyne, Jr.; Dr. L. Harban, F. O. Hartman, Stewart Stiekney, Max Behr and F. O. Heinhart.

July—Played first time in national championship at Glen View, near Chicago, and was put out by Eben Byers of Pittsburg, who also defeated W. J. Travis.

July 6—Won the Exmoor cup and on July 25 won the Ravinooks cup at Onwentsla, Ill.

Aug. 10—Beat the professional and amateur records at Exmoor, making the course in 70. Later in the month won the Junior cup.

September—Won the western championship at the Chicago Golf club. In same tournament made the lowest score in the qualifying round and won the special cup.

Oct. 25—Won the Intercollegiate championship at Morristown, N. J.

In 1903 he played thirty-seven matches, winning twenty-eight, losing seven and halving two. Among those he defeated were L. H. Conklin, Eben Byers and the English player, Norman F. Hunter.

May 15—Won the championship of Harvard university.

May 10—Broke the course record at Brookline, Mass.

July 23—Won cup at Exmoor in 74.

July 28—Was beaten by Mason Phelps for the Ravinooks cup.

Aug. 7—Beaten by Walter Egan at Cleveland for the western championship. Was even up at the thirty-sixth hole and lost on the extra one.

Aug. 17—Beaten at Whenton, Ill., by Norman F. Hunter, who made the

are from Chicago high schools, Noll, Dutton and Carman alone representing out of town schools. Noll and Badenoch seem to be the only aspirants for line positions that will give the old men any trouble. Both have the requisite weight and speed, while the experience of the latter on his school team last season should make him the most likely of the youngsters.

A real football man with much grid-iron experience in the person of C. T. Borg was announced by Captain Spiek recently. The new addition goes to the University of Chicago after two years as center on the University of Nebraska eleven.

Borg graduated from the western university and will enter the Chicago Law school. He succeeded John Koehler at Nebraska and, according to the statement of Koehler, was the best center his school ever had. He played in all the big games for the last two seasons, having been largely responsible for the showing of the Nebraska team in the Minnesota game two years ago and the Illinois contest last season.

The center position left vacant when "Shorty" Elsworth graduated should now be filled satisfactorily unless Coach Stagg decides that Borg shall will be fairly well fixed with material for the line. With Fairweather, Haselwood and Rothgeb as a nucleus, a strong forward aggregation is a probability. Moyall has given glimmers of ability last fall and is viewed as a likely candidate for a tackle position. Kasten, Phillips and Harmon, "T" men, who alternated at different places under the Woodruff regime, will also be available.

Huntton is the only "I" man back who played in the back field. The quarterback position is open, with not an available man in sight except Ritchie of Bloomington, who used to play with Illinois Wesleyan. Kirk, the Missouri recruit, is looked as an excellent halfback. He was enrolled in the university last year, but was not eligible.

Dyer, a 200 pound recruit from the Kankakee high school; Wham of Carbondale, Hawthay of Sheldon and Tucker of Anna are prospective candidates for the orange and blue eleven. Dyer is particularly landed in reports which reach the camp. He is said to be hardening himself at present by working in a stone quarry. Despite his weight he has played a back field position in his high school work.

"It is hard to say definitely what style of play Illinois will pursue under the graduate system," said George Huff, who will oversee the coaching. "The style of play will have to be worked out. The coaches learned the game under Princeton tutelage, but the Tiger tactics will not be allowed too much influence."

Illinois will not have a regular trainer. A competent rubbing staff will be maintained, but the coaches will have to look after the condition of the men themselves. The schedule is:

Oct. 15—Indiana at Illinois field.
Oct. 22—Purdue at Lafayette.
Oct. 29—Chicago at Chicago.
Nov. 5—Ohio State at Columbus.
Nov. 12—Northwestern at Evanston.
Nov. 19—Iowa at Illinois field.
Nov. 26—Nebraska at Lincoln.

PUGILISM IN ENGLAND.

American Fighters Still Have Hopes For Going Abroad.

In spite of the fact that the purses offered are small and constant reports are that no money is to be made by fighting in England, American pugilists seem to be afflicted with a mania for going over there. Among those who are booked to make a trip across the ocean are Joe Gans, the holder of the lightweight championship, and Young Peter Jackson, both negroes. They are going abroad under the eye of Manager A. Herford, who will endeavor to arrange bouts for them at the National Sporting club of London and several other boxing organizations in the tight little isle.

Gans may tackle Jabez White, and Jackson will probably meet one of the best of the English middleweights if satisfactory inducements are offered. Big purses are scarce in England, and the chances are that if the trio clear their expenses while abroad they will do well.

R. W. Hendry of the town of Lafayette, two miles north of Eau Claire, while crossing the railroad tracks at Bateman station, was struck by a gravel train and received what are considered fatal injuries.

Angus Pointer, 2400.

It seems understood that MacPherson, driver of Angus Pointer, 2400, was the horse's owner. Not at all so. He trains publicly and doubtless did not own a hair in his tail. Angus Pointer, by the way, is but a four-year-old, and, bred as he is and with his superior speed at ready command, he looks to be a 2:00 pacer if we are ever again to have such.
